

In April, eighth graders are learning about argumentative writing in English class. In the lesson below, eighth grade students analyzed advertisements in magazines based on the three principles of Aristotle's rhetoric triangle: ethos, pathos, and logos.

